

2009 New Brunswick Canada Games Sailing Team

The New Brunswick Sailing Association is pleased to announce the 2009 Canada Games Sailing Team. The team was announced at the conclusion of the Shediac Bay Yacht Club Circuit Regatta on July 27th, 2008. The results from all three NBSA circuit regattas were combined to determine who would represent New Brunswick at the 2009 Canada Summer Games in Prince Edward Island. The team is amongst the most talented ever assembled, with two veteran Canada Games sailors on the team. Introducing the 2009 New Brunswick Canada Games Sailing Team:

Catherine Richards – RKYC
Radial Women’s Single Handed Dingy

Chris Thomas – RKYC
Laser Men’s Single Handed Dingy

Meredith Evans (Skipper) – RYC
Erin Moir (Crew) – RYC

Alex Black (Skipper) – RKYC

These New Brunswick Sailors are making their mark on the national rankings with their hard work and dedication to their sport and province. One thing is certain, heading into these Canada Games we will have a well prepared team, a team that has been supported from the many New Brunswick yacht clubs, coaches, friends, volunteers and family. Will the Team come across the bridge with a medal? With the uncertainty of sport, in particular sailing, there is no way to predict right now but one thing is for sure this team will not go down without a fight. Win or lose all members of this team will have made sacrifices to represent themselves, and New Brunswick at the 2009 Canada Summer Games. Let’s all support the team in their push for Gold in PEI...
